

BPL has been shown to do more harm than good other than to make money for those who think of nothing else. I would like to think the FCC is above backing money over people. Disappointed but not suprised